

The Friends
of Cedarmere

CEDARMERE MATCHING GRANT

www.friendsofcedarmere.org

DOUBLE YOUR IMPACT:

Thanks to the generosity of an anonymous donor, for a limited time ALL contributions up to $50,000 will be matched!

Your generosity will go even further in preserving Cedarmere for future generations.

Join us in preserving Cedarmere, a literary gem and a community treasure.

HELP PRESERVE A LITERARY LANDMARK:

Historic Cedarmere, the estate of William Cullen Bryant.

William Cullen Bryant is renowned as the father of American poetry, a lover of nature, a newspaper editor, a prominent advocate against slavery and in favor of women's rights and the rights of workers. Bryant was a civic leader behind major causes in New York City, including the creation of Central Park and The Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Cedarmere stands as a testament to the rich literary heritage of Roslyn, New York. This magnificent property, with its sprawling grounds, elegant mansion, and captivating gardens, offers a glimpse into the past and a sanctuary for nature lovers and history enthusiasts alike.

*Keeping history alive: the Mill at Cedarmere is back in action after a meticulous restoration project.
Photo: Tom Powell*

Your generous donation can help ensure that Cedarmere remains a cherished community asset for generations to come. We are seeking matching donations to support essential preservation efforts, including:

- Building restoration: Maintaining the structural integrity of the historic mansion and outbuildings.
- Garden preservation: Preserving the beautiful gardens and grounds that inspired Bryant's poetry.
- Educational programs: Offering educational experiences for students, scholars, and the public.
- Public outreach: Promoting Cedarmere as a cultural and educational destination.

By contributing to Cedarmere, you are not only supporting a piece of American history but also investing in your community. Your donation will help to preserve a place where visitors can connect with the past, appreciate the beauty of nature, and be inspired by the power of literature.

Please visit our website at www.friendsofcedarmere.org, or click the donate button below and make a donation to our matching grant today.

Thank you,

The Friends of Cedarmere, Inc.

DONATE

